

David Hill

Executive Vice-President,
Exploration & Business Development

As Executive Vice-President, Exploration & Business Development, David is accountable for leading his team in identifying and securing a top-tier resource portfolio for Encana through exploration of new and emerging plays.

David has more than 30 years of diversified experience in the oil and natural gas industry. He joined Encana in November 2002 and assumed a variety of leadership roles, including his previous position as Vice-President, Operations of Encana Natural Gas Inc.

Prior to joining Encana, David was President of TICORA Geosciences, a company specializing in unconventional natural gas resources with core retrieval, core analysis and consulting services. David worked at the Gas Technology Institute (GTI) in Chicago for 11 years in various management positions before joining TICORA. At GTI, he worked in gas shale, coalbed methane and tight gas sands program areas. David specialized in natural gas resource characterization, technology development and technology commercialization in these program areas.

David has a bachelor's degree in petroleum engineering from Marietta College and an MBA from Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University.
